Dear Madam

Steel Services Limited v You & Others

As you are aware we are solicitors for the Claimant.

We have received from the Court a copy of your Defence. With regards to your Defence to our client's claim for major works contribution you state that part of your lease differs from that annexed to the claim. As you refer to your lease in the Defence we ask you to please provide us with a copy.

We would remind you that under the Civil Procedure Rules 1998 Part 31.14 "A party may inspect a document mentioned in a statement of case" and that under Part 31.14(1) "This right to inspect arises as soon as the document in question is mentioned". Furthermore under Part 31.15(C) "Where the party has a right to inspect a document that party may request a copy of the document and, if he also undertakes to pay the reasonable copying costs, the party who disclosed the document must supply him with a copy not more than 7 days after the date on which he received the request."

We await hearing from you.

Yours faithfully

CKFT
