Dear Ms Rawe,

See also Media page

I am in receipt of your email of 31st May 2002 to Lord Harris requesting a response to your letter of 5th May 2002.

In my capacity as MPA Liaison Officer I wrote to you on 13th May 2002 acknowledging receipt of your letter and documents and also enclosing an important disclosure permission letter. I am sorry that you do not appear to have received it and I have attached a copy for your information and consideration.

I DID - and returned the form, but - TYPICALLY (OVERVIEW # 7) THEY DID NOT WANT TO TAKE ACTION

The Authority can make some enquiries into this matter on your behalf, but under the Data Protection Act 1998 we need to obtain your permission to disclose your details and the contents of your correspondence with the Metropolitan Police Service (MPS), from which the Metropolitan Police Authority (MPA) is an independent organisation.

HA! HA! HA!

Please be advised that the MPA has no authority to directly investigate any such matters and can only ask the MPS to provide an update on the actions already taken. This being the case, and considering the fact that you are still in contact with the investigating officers who appear to be making some positive progress, it might be more useful for you to maintain that contact rather than to involve Lord Harris who could not add very much to the process.

Oh yeah! "making positive progress" on even more laughable fabrications!

However, should you still wish for Lord Harris to make some general enquiries about this matter, then please complete and return the disclosure permission letter and I will proceed with your enquiry.

See the outcome: his 11.07.02 letter - discussed in detail, under police # 1

Thank you for your patience in this matter.
